
Curt Stone and Janet Coleman, l to r, took top honors with their exhibit at the State 4-H Electric Congress in Richmond.

Campbell Exhibit Wins Blue Ribbon

The Campbell County 4-H electric exhibit won a blue ribbon and a $25.00 cash award at the 26th State 4-H Electric Congress held this year in Richmond on Aug. 23-25. 4-H members Janet Coleman and "Curt" Stone represented the county. Mrs. Janet Clement, Extension Agent, accompanied them.

This exhibit was designed by Janet and "Curt" with the assistance of Miss Debbie Meinberg, an extension agent.

"Welcome to My Hazardous Home" rated a blue ribbon. There were 20 exhibits in competition and all that rated blue were given $25.00. Campbell's team was 1 of 5 such winners. For the other exhibits, 7 rated red, and 8 rated white.

All participating counties and cities were judged on their 4-H programs promoted during the year. Campbell County was 1 of 8 to rate a blue ribbon.

Both 4-H'ers are active 4-H members in the Sherwill 4-H Community Club. Janet Coleman, 14 years old, is president of the 4-H Club. She has been in 4-H for five years and her main area of winning was foods. She has a county award in dairy foods and food preservation, an entomology pin for outstanding achievement, placed first in the County Dress Revue, and has also won many blue and purple ribbons with her foods and clothing entries at the Campbell County Fair. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Coleman, Jr., of Rustuburg.

"Curt" Stone, 15 years old, is vice president of the Sherwill 4-H Community Club. He has been in 4-H for six years and has been a winner in county contests with Safety and Community Beautification demonstrations five times. He rated blue, and purple, three years in Junior Area and last two years he was a district winner to give his demonstration at State 4-H Congress in Blacksburg. When purchasing pet foods the term 'naturally balanced' on the label means it is a least cost ration developed by computer analysis. 'Nutritionally balanced' refers to feeding trial formulation.

The gravy in certain dog foods is caramel and adds to the appearance, texture of the food, and appeal to the buyer, but not to the nutritional value.

There are 15,000 brands of pet foods which are manufactured by 3,000 companies. Each manufacturer has many brands in order to be more competitive to pet food buyers.

Tobacco growers should be making plans to treat plant bed sites with Methyl Bromide. It takes nine pounds per 100 square yards. Fall treatments are much more successful than late winter treatments.

* * *

The reduction in winter feed supplies will seriously affect profit margins of all livestock producers, but especially the beef cow-calf producer. Current prices of hay range from $75 to $100 a ton. A beef cow will need about 2 tons to get through the winter. If hay has to be purchased we could be talking about a feed cost of $200. This kind of cost will be very difficult to manage at a profitable level.

Cows that are old, poor performers, excessively large udders will need to go to market. Culling pressure needs to be heavy on marginal profitable cattle.

Cow numbers are down. There were 9% fewer cows on hand on U. S. farms July 1 than a year earlier.

Those who are fortunate to have feed supplies should find it profitable to winter small calves this year. Select 325 to 425 pound cattle and feed to gain 2 to 2½ pounds a day.

As cow numbers decline we enhance the profit potential for cows in the fall of 1977.

Now is the time to treat cattle for grubs. Remember it has to be done no later than November 1.

There are two winter oat varieties growers should consider - Cumberland which has been the highest yielding variety for the past two years in Virginia. This variety is available from growers in Tennessee.

The second choice should be Windsor, a fairly recent release from Virginia.

SAVINGS PLUS INSURANCE

Endowment insurance is essentially a savings plan with insurance to protect the savings program against premature death. The semi-compulsory nature of the premium serves as in incentive to savings and in probably the main reason for the purchase of this type of contract.

Typical endowment insurance plans provide for the payment of the face value of the policy upon death of the insured during a fixed term of years. If the insured is living, endowment plans also provide for the payment of the full face amount at the end of this period.

Due to the heavy savings element, the premium payments are the largest of all life insurance plans. When used correctly, endowment insurance furnishes the proper balance of protection and a sure means of accumulating a definite sum within a specific period of time.
